Louisville, Kentucky

HISTORY OF THE BUILDING

The Hall on Washington Street is located at the intersection of First Street and Washington Street on the backside of Whiskey Row, one of Louisville's most historic landmarks. Originally built in the 1870's, this building housed McFerran, Shallcross & Company; one of Louisville's largest pork packers, provisions dealers and maker of Magnolia Hams. The space was also home to Eclipse Woolen Mills; manufacturers of "Kentucky jeans," made from coarse, durable, cheap fabric for the working man. Also housed here was the Old Kentucky Distillery. Owned by Dietrich Meschendorf, known as "Dick" among his friends and colleagues, probably never heard of whiskey until he left his native Germany in his youth. Later, as a Kentucky bourbon-maker he was recognized as an authority and provided advice to two of our American Presidents about whiskey.

In Germany, the beer hall is a communal gathering place where people can enjoy the company of friends and family. It is the marriage of two things that will forever be harmonious: beer and sausage! The Hall on Washington pays homage to the German population who once lived and worked in Louisville in the early days. The space creates a unique spirit of an open-air German beer hall, with an urban twist. We invite our guests to sit at our spacious 65-foot bar, communal tables and comfortable lounge chairs; maybe even partake in a game of shuffleboard!

COMMUNITY SERVICE

Family Scholar House

Family Scholar House is a unique non-profit, breaking the cycle of poverty for disadvantaged single-parent families. We believe in the power of education to change lives, families and communities. We believe in second chances and fresh starts. We believe in the resilience of the human spirit. We believe that our past is part of us but does not define us. And, we believe in the wonderful single parents and young adults who come through our doors determined to make the most of new opportunities.

Bluegrass Center for Autism

Bluegrass Center for Autism is the only K-12 school for children on the autism spectrum in Louisville that prepares children with autism and other related disabilities to successfully transfer into the adult world. The demand for our unique curriculum has led to the opening of two campuses. The Kosair Charities East Campus houses our children ages 3-11, and our older children and young adults ages 12-21.

No Kid Hungry

When you become part of No Kid Hungry, you're joining a movement of teachers, chefs, community leaders, parents, lawmakers and CEOs with a shared belief: no kid in America should go hungry. 1 in 6 children in America faces hunger, all across the United States, in every community. We have plenty of food in this country. We also have effective programs to feed kids. The problem is not enough families have access to them.
